

Hello!

My name is Miranda! I am excited to apply for a position as a part-time fashion stylist for Divine Style.

Fashion is one of my greatest passions! I love beautiful gowns and edgy fashion shows, however even more than the extravagance of fashion, I love the way fashion can make a person feel. I feel that getting dressed in something that makes one feel beautiful, and can be the difference between feeling confident and productive, rather than dejected and shy. I have been told that I have a talent for invoking confidence in a woman through the perfect look! That is what I would bring as a stylist for Divine Style.

My experience in the fashion industry has been vast and diverse, from working behind the scenes in NYFW to styling photoshoots with a major retailer. I have done back-office work in a corporate environment and managed several locations of a retail shop within a department store. Although I enjoyed all of these, my favorite thing is always personally styling real women to empower them to find a style that makes them feel beautiful.

As a natural self-starter, I know I will build a successful business. The idea of getting to build relationships with clients that last, is so exciting to me, as I am sure we will both grow in the process. I have the perfect combination of creativity and digital skills to succeed in a role like this.

Thank you,
Miranda
